

Igor Limansky

As a first-generation American and son of an Egyptian mother and a French father, Igor's work has been personally motivated to celebrate cultural diversity and build community connections through the power of our shared human experience. His work is based on traditional community organizing techniques of personal narrative and research on how to talk to people about some of the most divisive issues through deep canvassing. As a meditation practitioner with 15+ years of experience, his work focuses on the intersection of mindful contemplation and community action.

Lianna Kinard

Lianna joined Buckner in 2016 as Vice President of Marketing. In her role, she manages the firm's brand communications and marketing strategy for seven offices. She was recently recognized as Utah Business Magazine's "Women of the Year" and has also been named by Insurance Business Magazine as an "Elite Woman in Insurance."

Lianna earned a B.A. in Marketing from the David Eccles School of Business and will be graduating with her Master's Degree in General Management from Harvard University this May. Lianna currently serves on the Board for Hale Centre Theatre and Utah Polynesian Professionals.

Ché Arguello

Ché is a prosecutor in the Utah Attorney General's Office. He joined the AG's Office in 2010, first serving as a line prosecutor in the Mortgage and Financial Fraud Unit (MFFU). In 2012, Ché was promoted to Section Director of MFFU. In 2014, Ché was appointed Division Director of the White Collar and Commercial Enforcement Division, where he served until February of 2019. After a brief stint as a Division Administrator at the Salt Lake County District Attorney's Office, Ché has returned to the AG's Office and is currently serving in the Justice Division handling the first-degree felony case reviews pursuant to HB 281 from the 2019 general legislative session.

Ché is a 2000 graduate of the Benjamin N. Cardozo School of Law at Yeshiva University in New York City. Prior to joining the AG's Office in 2010, Ché served for ten years as a prosecutor in the New York County District Attorney's Office, focusing on domestic violence, sex crimes, gang, and homicide prosecutions. Ché was born and raised in Salt Lake City and received a BA in Spanish from the University of Utah in 1995.
